CASE NO. 2:24-mc-00014

ORDER GRANTING MOTION TO TRANSFER VENUE

1. INTRODUCTION

This matter comes before the Court on non-party Institute for Environmental Health, Inc. (“IEH”)’s motion consenting to the transfer of this matter to the Eastern District of California pursuant to Rule 45(f). Dkt. No. 8. Upon review of the motion, Plaintiff B&G Food North America, Inc.’s response, and IEH’s response, the Court GRANTS the motion to transfer venue. Dkt. Nos. 8, 16, and 17.

2. BACKGROUND

In March 2020, subpoenaing party, B&G Foods, sued Defendants Kim Embry and IEH to stop their Proposition 65 litigation in the Eastern District of California. B&G Foods N. Am., Inc. v. Kim Embry and Env't Health Advocs., Inc., Case No. 2:20-cv-00526-KJM-DB (E.D. Cal. Mar. 6, 2020). IEH is Defendants' laboratory and has provided them with food testing for certain chemicals for years. Defendants have used these test results to file thousands of Proposition 65 claims.

B&G initially subpoenaed IEH for documents and testimony on June 16, 2023. Dkt. No. 1-1 at 93, 105. B&G served IEH again on November 7, 2023. Dkt. No. 10 at 2. IEH provided responses and objections to the subpoena on November 20, 2023. Dkt. Nos. 1-1 at 123–135; 10 at 2. IEH mailed documents to B&G Foods on November 24, 2023. Dkt. No. 10 at 3. B&G's counsel requested a meet and confer on December 13, 2023, about the production. Dkt. No. 10 at 4. The parties met and conferred on December 20, 2023. Dkt. Nos. 1-1 at 13; 10 at 5. B&G informed IEH that it had not received any documents from B&G. Dkt. No. 10 at 6. IEH mailed a copy of both document productions on December 18, 2023. Id. On January 8, 2024, IEH supplemented its production. Dkt. No. 1-1 at 4. On January 16, 2024, B&G served IEH with a third amended subpoena. Dkt. No. 1-1 at 3, 107.

On February 5, 2024, B&G informed IEH that it had not produced documents responsive to 12 requests and had not completed its production for 20 additional requests. Dkt. Nos. 1-1 at 139

1 On March 6, 2024, B&G moved to compel IEH to produce responsive
2 documents and to designate a corporate deponent to testify in response to the 3 January 24, 2024 subpoena. Dkt. No. 1.

4 3. DISCUSSION

5 Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 45(f) provides that “[w]hen the court where 6 compliance is required did not issue the subpoena, it may transfer a motion under 7 this rule to the issuing court if the person subject to the subpoena consents or if the 8 court finds exceptional circumstances.” Although local resolution of subpoena
9 disputes is preferred, the 2013 Advisory Committee’s Note advises “transfer may be 10 warranted in order to avoid disrupting the issuing court’s management of the 11 underlying litigation, as when that court has already ruled on issues presented by 12 the motion or the same issues are likely to arise in discovery in many districts.”
13 Advisory Committee’s Note on the 2013 Amendment, Fed. R. Civ. P. 45. Rule 45 is 14 intended to protect nonparties by enabling disputes about subpoenas to be resolved
15 locally, but “transfer to the court where the action is pending is sometimes 16 warranted.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 45, Advisory Committee Notes on 2013 Amendments.

17 This case is an unusual circumstance. IEH, the subject of the Rule 45
18 subpoena, consents to the transfer of the motion to enforce its subpoena to the 19 Eastern District of California. It is the Plaintiff, the subpoenaing party, who 20 opposes the transfer. However, “[r]ule 45(f) nowhere contemplates that parties 21 seeking a subpoena can or would object to transfer back to the court where they 22 originally filed suit, since they had presumably chosen their preferred jurisdiction
23

1 in the first instance.” Hall v. Marriott Int’l Inc., No. 21-MC-80165-TSH, 2021 WL
2 3129598, at *2 (N.D. Cal. July 23, 2021) (internal citation omitted).

3 For completeness, the Court also considers whether this matter presents
4 “exceptional circumstances” warranting transfer under the second prong of Rule
5 45(f). Several factors support transferring these proceedings as an “exceptional
6 circumstance.” Based on the record before the Court, similar discovery issues have 7 arisen in several districts and transfer of the proceedings will avoid inconsistent
8 results. And there is no prejudice or undue burden to the parties or non-parties in 9 litigating the motion to enforce in the Eastern District of California.

10 Under these circumstances, Rule 45(f) presents no bar to transfer the motion
11 to enforce compliance back to the subpoena-issuing court. IEH’s proactive consent to 12 transfer provides sufficient grounds for this Court to grant the motion to transfer.

13 4. CONCLUSION

14 For the reasons stated above, the Court GRANTS IEH’s request to transfer
15 the pending motion to enforce. The Clerk of the Court is directed to transfer this 16 case to the Eastern District of California for consideration of B&G’s motion to 17 enforce its subpoena pending in the matter of B&G Foods N. Am., Inc. v. Kim
18 Embry and Env’t Health Advocs., Inc., Case No. 2:20-cv-00526-KJM-DB. The Clerk
19 is further directed to close the matter.
